Facilitated by:

Dr. Kenneth Hardy

Dr. Hardy is an internationally recognized clinician, author, and Trainer. He is also the Director of the Eikenberg Institute for Relationships in New York City where he maintains a private practice specializing in working with traumatized and oppressed populations. Dr. Hardy is the former Director of the Center for Children, Families, and Trauma at the Ackerman Institute in New York City, and formerly served on the faculty at Syracuse University where he held numerous positions including Director of Clinical Training and Research, as well as Chairperson of the Department of Child and Family Studies.

Training Description:

This workshop addresses the role that race and implicit bias play in health inequities. What is implicit racial bias and how does it contribute to racial disparities, and why is it important for providers and communities to make them explicit and move beyond them? While mental health professionals are frequently viewed as more open to working with a wide range of demographic groups, research indicates that healthcare professionals exhibit the same levels of implicit racial bias as the general population. This training is intended for administrators, counselors, program managers, program staff, and therapists. Lunch will be provided by The Office of Ethnic Services.

Learning Objectives:

Upon completion of this workshop, attendees will be able to:

1. Summarize how media depictions cultivate stereotypes, and how a neuroscientific understanding of associations helps us to understand bias.
2. Describe racial trauma and how it manifests differently across race.
3. Utilize beneficiaries' experiences to interrupt common misconceptions about race, cultural competence, and the improvement Mental Health and SUD (Substance Use Disorders) Services. Registration begins at 8:45 am - Training starts promptly at 9:00 am.

Continuing Education:

This course meets the qualifications for 5.5 hours of continuing education credit for RNs by the California Board of Registered Nurses, BRN Provider No. 12040; for California Foundation for Advancement of Addiction Professionals (CFAAP), Provider No. 4C-04-604-0618; and for LMFTs, LCSWs, LPCCs, and/or LEPs as required by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences.
