The foundation of FSPS is doing “whatever it takes” to help individuals on their path to recovery and wellness. • All programs follow the Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) model which is an evidence-based practice designed to assist adults with “severe and persistent” mental illness (SPMI) • The ACT model focuses on the individual’s personal needs. This service has a one stop team to access all needs. • Participants can receive ACT services for as long as is needed with a goal for gradual and individualized graduation with clear criteria and markers.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The entire ACT team shares responsibility for all clients served and each team member will have multiple contact and interactions with clients in their communities and to develop a capacity for intensive services 24/7. • FSPs maintain a 10:1 client to staff ratio. • Four metrics used to measure success <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Number of incidents of incarceration - Number of psychiatric hospitalizations - Number of days spent in subacute settings - Number of days spent unhoused • L.D. expresses concern about lower levels of care because space is needed in FSPs. Wonders if BHC is tracking what happens to individuals after they graduate from the FSP program, is there any data that is being tracked? • Since FSPs are voluntary programs, team members are not currently able to 5150 individuals who have forward facing mental illness. They can either contact the mobile crisis team, local police or any physician that may be on staff. • Brain recommends reaching out to the public defender's office and the DA to potentially assist with the CARES court initiative. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Yvonne will pull data on recidivism and how long individuals are in the FSP programs
