Description: The goal of this training is for participants to distinguish among some of the most commonly used and widely researched trauma-informed and trauma-focused interventions in working with clients who present with acute, chronic, or complex trauma. The training will primarily expand and strengthen the participants' clinical skills on telehealth adaptations of trauma-focused and trauma-informed interventions in working with clients. The training will also increase the participants' competencies in integrating telehealth adaptations of some culturally-adapted trauma-focused interventions in their clinical work with Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) clients. Finally, the training will culminate in the participants' development of a tentative plan on how to implement trauma-focused telehealth tools in their individual clinical practice and/or behavioral health programs.

Trainer(s): Ritchie Rubio Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology, As current Director of Practice Improvement and Analytics at the San Francisco Department of Public Health – Behavioral Health Services, Dr. Rubio strengthens our system's efforts to integrate trauma-focused and culturally-responsive practices in the use of telehealth with primarily BIPOC clients.
