

Alameda County Behavioral Health is pleased to offer a FREE training:

Preventing, De-Escalating, and Managing Aggressive Behavior in Behavioral Health Care Settings

Tuesday, October 12th, 2021

9:00am - 1:30pm

Location: Online via Zoom

(link will be sent after registering and nearer to the training date)

Audience: All classifications of Alameda County Behavioral Health and contracted ACBH Provider Staff are welcome to attend. Please note that CE credit is only provided for County staff and contracted ACBH provider staff.

Trainer, Ian Brennan: Mr. Brennan has over 25 years of experience training on managing aggressive behavior in a variety of behavioral health settings. He trains nationally and internationally on this and related subjects including anger management and conflict resolution. The training is based on his over 15 years' experience working as a mental health specialist in locked, acute, psychiatric settings.

Description: Course emphasis is placed on exercising self-control and systematically utilizing the least restrictive measures versus attempts to externally control others. Setting limits is viewed as informative and helpful to the other party, rather than punitive or judgmental.

Learning Objectives - by the end of the training, participants will be able to:

- Identify two words universally used most often to “bait” and initiate the cycle of provocation/antagonization.
- Define the two primary strategies that most reliably stimulate rational-thought in another, with an emphasis on choices and curiosity.
- Name the two most recurring communicational missteps on the part of the speaker that, unwittingly, emotionally intensify rather than help calm most situations.
- Analyze the three communicational elements that must be in place in order for a sender’s message to be received as intended.
- Describe the core basis of most arguments: resulting from a misplaced emphasis on the part of both parties and the presence of anger masking fear.

To complete attendance for an ACBH-sponsored virtual training, participants must achieve a score of at least 70% on the post-test.
