Topic Description: "Forgotten" Seniors of the LGBTQ community, resources available and supporting their needs

Objectives: To explain what the forgotten senior community is and how to provide services for our LGBTQ senior community.

Dr. Melinda Ginne is a gero-psychologist with a 40-year career specializing in geriatrics and the treatment of the psychological aspects of acute, chronic, and life-threatening medical illness. She is one of the founding instructors in the Professional Program in Aging and Mental Health at UC Berkeley Extension, where she has been the lead instructor in aging for the past 15 years. In the past two decades she has taught a number of classes and workshops in aging as well as in the psychological aspects of medical illness. Dr. Ginne emphasizes a research to practice model and brings aging best practices to those who are working in a range of health and mental health setting.
